Call for Participants

Moon Fool theatre company will be facilitating a 10-day intensive Voice & Performance Residency in Italy next August, which may be of interest to current and graduating students and researchers (or, indeed, faculty members).

"This rigorous training challenges the individual to shed inhibition and focuses on the ethos and practice of ensemble - mutuality... Anna-Helena leads with a rare combination of musicianship, intellectual and emotional enquiry"

Hugh Hodgart, Royal Conservatoire of Scotland

More than 40% fee reduction with bookings before 30th November

The residency is focused on international artistic collaboration, physio-vocal actor training, and ensemble performance practice. In previous years, participants have come from across five continents, forming a dynamic working group of actors, singers, theatre makers, researchers and teachers.

Anna-Helena McLean (Artistic Director) will be leading the residency. She was a principal performer with Gardzienice (seminal experimental anthropological theatre in Poland) for seven years before returning to the UK to develop her own unique Actor-Chorus-Text (ACT) practice that forms the basis of Moon Fool's productions. She has taught at the Royal Conservatoire of Scotland and Rose Bruford College, and is currently working as an extended voice and music leader for Tract and Touch while pursuing a Phd at Guildhall.

The residency is hosted by Centro Anidra, a holistic centre and biodynamic farm in the wild countryside of Borzonasca, Liguria. Participants live and work together, including spending six hours per week as farmhands, and full bed and board is included in the cost of the residency. It is worth pointing out that Centro Anidra is a registered Erasmus + Traineeship centre, and therefore there are funding options for students looking for placements abroad.

Follow the link for more information about the residency below and I would urge you to notice that the best offers are available until the 30th November – I hope you agree that it would be of interest to people in your network.
